HOT DOCS 2018 TO OPEN WITH WORLD PREMIERE OF
*THE HEAT: A KITCHEN (R)EVOLUTION

Toronto, March 20, 2018 – Hot Docs is excited to announce that the world premiere of director Maya Gallus' The Heat: A Kitchen (R)evolution (Canada | 2018 | 75 min) will open the 2018 Festival with an industry-only screening on Thursday, April 26, at 7:00 p.m. The film will have a public opening night screening immediately following at 9:30 p.m.

Director Maya Gallus and guest subjects will be in attendance at both screenings at the Hot Docs Ted Rogers Cinema, 506 Bloor Street West, to introduce the film and participate in post-screening audience discussions.

"A trailblazing documentarian, Maya Gallus' work has always challenged stereotypes and standards, regularly featuring female subjects who forge their own path and make their own rules," said Shane Smith, director of programming for Hot Docs. "Her strong sense of compassion and curiosity fuels her directorial choices, leading her to create films that give voice to the limits, roles and rebellions of women in the world, and we're thrilled to be opening this year's Festival with her latest film The Heat: A Kitchen (R)evolution."

Running a successful restaurant is a challenge on its own, but for a woman it's even more so given the male dominance of the industry. But as women take charge at more of the world's top dining establishments, a cultural shift is dismantling the macho environment that made celebrities out of "bad boy" chefs. From New York City's star chefs Anita Lo and Amanda Cohen to the queen of French cuisine Anne-Sophie Pic, seven chefs share their struggles to overcome a system of inequality and harassment while delivering delicious dishes and redefining the dining experience.

In addition to its opening night screenings, the film will also screen on Saturday, April 28 at 1:15 p.m. at TIFF Bell Lightbox, and on Sunday, May 6, at 3:30 p.m. at the documentary Channel Screening Room at the Isabel Bader Theatre as part of the Special Presentations program.

HOT DOCS HONOURS CANADIAN FILMMAKER JOHN WALKER WITH *FOCUS ON RETROSPECTIVE

Toronto, March 20, 2018 – Hot Docs will pay tribute to filmmaker John Walker with this year's Focus On retrospective, an annual program showcasing the work of a significant Canadian filmmaker. Hot Docs will screen a selection of Walker's films in the Focus On program during the 25th annual Festival, April 26 to May 6, 2018.

"A creative visionary and compelling storyteller, we're thrilled to celebrate the work of John Walker with our Focus On retrospective during this year's Festival," said Shane Smith, director of programming for Hot Docs. "A bold, uncompromising filmmaker, John has been a vital voice in Canadian documentary for many years, and his singular vision continues to yield thought-provoking perspectives on meaningful stories from around the world."

John Walker is one of Canada's most prolific and respected documentary filmmakers. His films, which are personal, lyrical and express a deep understanding of the human condition, have won international acclaim and appeared at major film festivals from Toronto to Tokyo. He has received 19 nominations and awards from the Academy of Canadian Cinema & Television, including the coveted Donald Brittain Award for best social/political documentary. His feature documentary films include Strand-Under the Dark Cloth, The Fairy Faith, Men of the Deeps, A Drummer's Dream, Arctic Defenders, and Quebec My Country Mon Pays, which had its World Premiere at Hot Docs in 2016. He also co-produced, wrote and directed the provocative feature film Passage, a fiction/documentary about the Sir John Franklin search for the fabled Northwest Passage.

John Walker has made several films for British television, tackling some of the foremost tragedies of the twentieth century. He directed and photographed the first two films in the BBC/October Films trilogy The Hand of Stalin, and his credits on Great Britain's Channel 4 include Hidden Children, Orphans of Manchuria, and the groundbreaking Distress Signals, based on the communication theories of Canadian scholar Harold Innis. He is the first Canadian to receive the Organization of American Historians - Eric Barnouw Award, and his passionate commitment to the documentary form led him to co-found DOC, Documentary Organization of Canada, and act as a mentor to numerous emerging filmmakers across the country.

Past Focus On honourees include Maya Gallus (2017), Rosie Dransfield (2016), Carole Laganière (2015), John Zaritsky (2014), Peter Mettler (2013), John Kastner (2012), Alan Zweig (2011), Tahani Rached (2010), Ron Mann (2009), Jennifer Baichwal (2008), Kevin McMahon (2007), Serge Giguère (2006), Larry Weinstein (2005), Nettie Wild (2004), Shelley Saywell (2003) and Zacharias Kunuk (2002).

NEW PROGRAM THE CHANGING FACE OF EUROPE EXAMINES POLITICAL, CULTURAL AND SOCIAL FACTORS AFFECTING THE CONTINENT

Toronto, March 20, 2018 – In collaboration with EFP (European Film Promotion), this year's Hot Docs Festival will incorporate a special program entitled The Changing Face of Europe, a pan-European showcase of 10 new documentaries that will each illustrate and examine the current cultural, geographic, economic and political factors affecting Europe today.

"We are delighted to strike up this new partnership with Hot Docs for European documentary films," said Sonja Heinen, Managing Director of EFP. "The programme reflects on the "new Europe" with its current political and social changes; and shines a light on the rich and vivid diversity of European documentaries. The EFP member organisations have nominated an excellent array of films and we are excited to see the final selection curated by the programmers at Hot Docs. We are honored to be part of this prestigious and important festival and look forward to presenting the European filmmakers to industry and audience alike."

Marking the first time the organization has partnered with Hot Docs, The Changing Face of Europe continues EFP's commitment of presenting outstanding creative documentaries from Europe to North American audiences. Filmmakers selected to take part in this program will participate in an array of Festival industry events including workshops, pitches and meetings with potential buyers, expanding their professional development on an international scale, and increasing their film's access to North American and international markets.

"We're very excited to partner with European Film Promotion for the first time during this year's Festival to present a selection of films highlighting the stories and issues that are affecting the Continent today" said Shane Smith, director of programming for Hot Docs. "By showcasing new voices and fresh perspectives with The Changing Face of Europe, we're pleased to be able to introduce these films and their talented creators to the North American industry and to Toronto audiences."

The goal of EFP is to raise visibility and market opportunities for unique, strong and visionary documentaries from Europe. Since 2017, it has provided Film Sales Support for European world sales companies to market films selected for Hot Docs, increasing Europe's presence at the Festival and helping to stimulate distribution of European films to North America and beyond.

HOT DOCS' REDUX PROGRAM SCREENS CLASSIC CANADIAN FILMS FROM ACROSS THE COUNTRY

Toronto, March 20, 2018 – Hot Docs is pleased to once again present Redux, a retrospective program that will share exceptional documentaries from the past. This year's program features 19 Canadian films, including five features, two mid-length works and 12 shorts, covering the country from coast to coast to coast.

"Like last year, we reached out to members of our community to ask for input in selecting essential Canadian documentaries," said Kiva Reardon, curator of the Redux program. "The results were expansively illuminating—some tried and true favourites mixed with new discoveries. In curating this section, we strove to keep this blend, given that, as ever, the aim of Redux is to expand our national cinematic canon."

In Redux, audiences will discover stories about: a family who uproots their lives to move to a remote corner of the Yukon; the downfall of the ill-fated Winnipeg Jets; an Indigenous man stranded by two police officers in -20°C temperatures; an Igloolik performer and musician who died in RCMP custody; the subtly political work of Canadian photographer Ed Burtynsky; and more.

The Redux program is in partnership with Documentary Organization of Canada and Sponsored by Encore+, by the Canada Media Fund.

HOT DOCS PARTNERS WITH SAMSUNG CANADA TO COMMISSION SIX SHORT FILMS IN CELEBRATION OF THE FESTIVAL'S 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Toronto, March 20, 2018 – Hot Docs has partnered with Samsung Canada to celebrate its 25th anniversary Festival by commissioning six short documentaries, each reflecting on a monumental moment in a filmmaker's life. The program, called Big Steps, both embraces traditional documentary storytelling and looks forward to advancements in digital filmmaking technology. Three of the films will be created by established Canadian documentarians and three by YouTube content creators, and all films will be shot on the latest smartphone technology from Samsung, the Galaxy Note 8 and Galaxy S9+. The six films will be shown at two free screenings at the Samsung Experience Store in the CF Toronto Eaton Centre location—three on March 23, 2018 and the remaining three on April 27, 2018. The films will screen in rotation during pre-show presentations at the Hot Docs Festival, which runs from April 26-May 6, 2018.

“The remarkable growth of digital technology has made the art of filmmaking more accessible, encouraging people to play with and create high-quality footage on their handheld device,” said Brett Hendrie, executive director of Hot Docs. “We’re extremely pleased to partner with Samsung Canada to showcase their latest smartphone’s cinematic features, and to promote the craft of storytelling through film with this new technology.”

Documentarians participating in this project include award-winning directors Charles Officer, whose film Unarmed Verses won Best Canadian Feature Awards at Hot Docs; Yung Chang, director of the Genie Award-winning Up the Yangtze and China Heavyweight; and Nimisha Mukerji, whose films 65_Redroses and Tempest Storm have appeared on Hot Docs Festival lists of audience favourites. YouTube content creators will be Émile Roy, who directed and starred in a web series as well as many short films; Sabrina Cruz, a Toronto-based video producer and personality best known for her YouTube channel NerdyAndQuirky; and Corey Vidal, founder of Buffer Festival, an annual theatrical event in Toronto where hundreds of YouTube’s acclaimed creators premiere new content.

An exploration of life’s profound moments, the films included in Big Steps will reveal experiences that deeply impacted the filmmaker such as the birth of their first child, while others will explore a secondary subject, like a child prodigy musician who is the only person of colour in the Toronto Symphony Youth Orchestra.

“Through our innovative mobile camera technology, Canadians can reimagine the way they communicate, share and experience the world around them,” said Philippe Lozier, Director Content and Services, Samsung Canada. “We’re thrilled to partner with Hot Docs and put our latest smartphones in the hands of six incredible creators to showcase how our camera technology helps connect them with their community and express their vision.”

All six films will be shot on Samsung latest technology—four on a Galaxy Note 8 and two on the all new Galaxy S9+. Big Steps will showcase the advanced filmmaking capabilities of this new technology, focusing on its remarkable quality and the tools it offers to both advanced and aspiring filmmakers.

HOT DOCS DONATES 25 YEARS OF FESTIVAL HISTORY TO RYERSON UNIVERSITY LIBRARY AND ARCHIVES

Toronto, March 20, 2018 – To mark its 25th Festival anniversary this spring, Hot Docs has made a significant donation to the Ryerson University Library and Archives. The gift includes decades-worth of assets from past Hot Docs Festivals and year-round activities that will be housed in the Library's Special Collections, providing students the opportunity to reference the materials for their studies, and contributing to Ryerson University's comprehensive collection of archival material in media arts.

"Documentary film offers a unique, first-hand perspective into understanding the lives and experiences of others, and as such it's important to study the art form to learn effective ways of telling these vital stories," said Brett Hendrie, executive director of Hot Docs. "With 25 years of history, it was imperative for us to make Hot Docs' archival records available to students, as they provide a window into new creative and media landscapes used in documentary filmmaking."

Ryerson University is home to a number of media programs as well as the Documentary Media Research Centre, making it a natural repository for Hot Docs' extensive archival collection. Included in the donation are: copies of Festival and Hot Docs Cinema publications, including annual reports, program guides, screening schedules, Hot Docs Forum catalogues and other industry guides; marketing materials including posters, handbills and creative properties; promotional film stills and EPKs from many of the thousands of films that have screened at the Festival; media clippings and publicity reports; and 70 DVDs from the KinoSmith Hot Docs Collection among other items.

"We are very pleased to receive the Hot Docs archival materials," says Special Collections Librarian Alison Skyrme. "The collection will be of exceptional research value for film students, and offers a tremendous resource for all those who want to study and understand the creative industries in Canada."

"There couldn't be a better fit between an academic institution and a film organization," says Marc Glassman, adjunct professor, Ryerson University. "With its unique Master of Fine Arts in Documentary Media program, Ryerson is the perfect place to house a collection of documentary DVDs, film catalogues and ephemera from Hot Docs, the most successful film festival of its kind in North America."

Ryerson University's Special Collections holds many rare, fragile, audiovisual and other non-book items, as well as materials that relate to specific research fields. It was established to help support learning and teaching needs, and facilitate the scholarly, research and creative activities of the Ryerson community by acquiring and preserving photography, film and cultural history objects.

An additional seven selected films participated in Hot Docs Deal Maker, a one-on-one pitch-meeting program launched in 2013 for producers seeking financing from the international marketplace.

Four selected films received a grant from Hot Docs Ted Rogers Fund, established to support Canadian documentary filmmakers.

The Hot Docs Ted Rogers Fund and Hot Docs-Blue Ice Group Documentary Fund grant recipients, Hot Docs Forum and Hot Docs Deal Maker alumni projects screening at this year's Hot Docs appear below.

DOCS FOR SCHOOLS RETURNS OFFERING FREE SCREENINGS TO 95,000+ STUDENTS ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Toronto, March 20, 2018 – Hot Docs is pleased to announce that its exceptionally popular Docs For Schools program will once again provide high school students across Ontario with free access to screenings of Festival films.

Launched in 2006, Docs For Schools immediately became a calendar event for both educators and students. In 2017, Docs For Schools reached over 110,000 students in over 300 middle schools and high schools across the province.

For students, Docs For Schools offers an enlightening experience, presenting unique and critical perspectives on the world. With content closely related to course subjects, including art, economics, environment, geography, history, media studies, politics, science and world issues, Docs For Schools screenings provide students the opportunity to engage with issues of our day. The program offers in-school or in-cinema screening options.

For each film showcased in the Docs For Schools program, Hot Docs – in consultation with professional educators – prepares detailed educational packages that include lesson plans and links to the Ontario curriculum. These are used by teachers before and after the screening to further explore the subject matter of the film, help foster an appreciation of narrative and the documentary form, and develop wider skills, such as critical and analytical thinking.

New this year, the Scotiabank Docs For Schools Student Choice Award, which comes with a $5,000 cash prize, will be presented to the director of the film that achieved that achieved the highest rating as determined by student vote.

Docs for Schools is generously supported by lead sponsor Scotiabank, exclusive education partner Humber School of Media Studies & Information Technology, Ontario Trillium Foundation and The Slight Family Foundation. Additional support is provided by The Andy and Beth Burgess Family Foundation, Hal Jackman Foundation, The S. M. Blair Family Foundation, CineSend and through contributions by individual donors.

The Docs For Schools in-cinema film selections for 2018 appear below. There are also 14 Docs For Schools in-school selections available for classroom screenings. Teachers (Grades 7 – 12) who are interested in participating in the Docs For Schools programs with their students, can contact Lesley Sparks, Education and Youth Programs Manager, at lsparks@hotdocs.ca.

All Docs For Schools screenings happen at Hot Docs Ted Rogers Cinema. When possible filmmakers and subjects attend DFS screenings for a Q&A with the students

HOT DOCS FORUM ANNOUNCES
20 CANADIAN AND INTERNATIONAL PROJECT SELECTIONS
FIRST LOOK PITCH PRIZE RETURNS TO AWARD $140K

Toronto, March 14, 2018 – Hot Docs is pleased to announce the 20 projects that will be presented during this year's Hot Docs Forum. Recognized as North America's essential market for the international documentary community, the Hot Docs Forum will take place the mornings of Tuesday, May 1 and Wednesday, May 2, during the 2018 edition of Hot Docs. This year's projects represent 18 different countries and were selected from over 250 submissions. Returning for a second year will be the first look Pitch Prize, which will award three projects with a total of $140K. Combined with the program's other two prizes—the Hot Docs Corus Pitch Prize of $10K and the Cuban Hat Award—the Hot Docs Forum is one of the most highly-funded programs of its kind. Celebrating its 25th anniversary this year, the Hot Docs Festival runs from April 26-May 6.

"We're incredibly proud of the breadth and scope of projects represented in this year's Forum," said Dorota Lech, Hot Docs industry programmer and Forum producer. "We're really looking forward to ushering in this incredible group of filmmakers to share their work with decision makers and audiences."

"The Hot Docs Forum is regarded as one of the industry's key pitch events, and with the addition of the First Look Pitch Prize it's now one of the top-funded pitch forums in the world," said Elizabeth Radshaw, industry programs director for Hot Docs. "We're so pleased to be able to offer these talented and passionate filmmakers this significant financial support, which will tremendously benefit their project and help bring their cinematic vision to life."

Attended by over 500 leading industry professionals, the Forum is focused around a schedule of pre-selected international project presentations made to a roundtable of key international commissioning editors and an observers gallery composed of fellow producers, distributors, sales agents, funders and other buyers. Participating decision makers confirmed to date include ARTE, ARTE G.E.I.E, Al Jazeera, BBC Storyville, DOC SOCIETY, Catapult Film Fund, CBC, Cinereach, SRC -Radio Canada, Chicken & Egg, Discovery Communications, Field of Vision, Film Independent, Fork Films, HBO Documentary Films, Knowledge, The New York Times Op-Docs, ORF1 & ORF 2, NHK, PBS, Redford Center, Sundance Institute, SVT, TVO, yesDocu, YLE, VICE, VPRO, ZDF.

Established to offer donors a chance to support documentaries that examine social justice issues, the first look Pitch Prize will enable its partners to select and award their top three Forum pitches with a first, second and third prize of $75,000, $40,000 and $25,000, respectively. Winners will be announced at the Hot Docs Forum closing awards on May 2.

For the tenth consecutive year, the Hot Docs Corus Pitch Prize will be awarded to the best Canadian pitch at the event, as determined by a committee of international (non-Canadian) commissioning editors in attendance. The winner will receive a $10,000 cash prize to be used toward the production and completion budget for their project.

The Cuban Hat Award will return to the 2018 Hot Docs Forum, continuing with their "real cash, no strings attached" prize. All the money raised over the two days of the event will be given to the observers' favourite pitch, as determined by ballot. The Mounties' Hat Pitch gives Hot Docs Forum observers the chance to secure a last minute presentation slot during the event. A business card will be drawn and the individual will be granted the available 2018 pitch slot.

CARA MERTES, DIRECTOR OF FORD FOUNDATION'S JUSTFILMS, TO RECEIVE DOC MOGUL AWARD AT 2018 HOT DOCS

Toronto, March 20, 2018 – Hot Docs is pleased to announce it will present the 2018 Doc Mogul Award to Cara Mertes, director of the JustFilms initiative at the Ford Foundation. The Award recognizes an individual who has made an essential contribution to the creative vitality of the documentary industry over the course of his or her career, both at home and abroad. Hot Docs, which celebrates its 25th Festival anniversary this spring, will present Ms. Mertes with the Doc Mogul Award at a luncheon in her honour on Monday, April 30, during the 2018 Hot Docs Canadian International Documentary Festival, April 26 to May 6, in Toronto.

"We're so pleased to recognize Cara Mertes' work and dedication to non-fiction storytelling with this year's Doc Mogul award," said Hot Docs industry programs director, Elizabeth Radshaw. "Through her tireless leadership and devotion to documentary film she has supported the creative vision of countless filmmakers and championed thought-leading organizations worldwide."

"Hot Docs is one of the most vibrant engines for momentum in the international independent documentary eco-system, and it's a great honor to be recognized in their 25th year for work that has been, for me over that same period, both a calling and a professional trajectory," said Cara Mertes. "None of this has happened alone. I have been very fortunate to have been mentored and supported by extraordinary cultural and media leaders. Women in particular have been important role models. In turn, over my career as an independent media maker, in public media, in the non-profit world and now in philanthropy, I have tried to foster new opportunities and resources for underrepresented and transformative moving image makers and support visionary, inclusive leadership for the future of this work. I believe these are the stories and the leaders who are the key to creating a path through the current challenges the world faces."

As the director of JustFilms since 2013, Cara has carried forward the Ford Foundation's long-time commitment to film as a critical social justice strategy. With a focus on deepening a socially engaged moving image practice, she has expanded JustFilms' original remit as a feature length documentary fund, to implementing an integrated content and field-funding initiative that supports an inclusive independent film/emerging media eco-system around the world. The latest expression of this approach is the recently launched JustFilms Global Network of nine global north/global south organizations supporting independent media makers. This network is funded over five years to build sustainability for the organizations and link them in exploring common global needs of independent documentarians.

Mertes has spearheaded Ford's funding for over 250 film and media projects that lift up stories that underscore human dignity and justice, including the Academy Award-winning film Citizenfour. Through JustFilms, Mertes has supported fellowships for field leaders, in particular leaders of colour, created new opportunities for filmmakers to work with journalists, and expanded the emerging media landscape with the recent Making A New Reality report and a set of VR labs for makers of colour. She has also helped to advance the field of narrative and culture shift by spearheading the creation and launch of the Narrative Initiative and the Detroit Narrative Agency and by participating in the design and launch of the new Pop Culture Collaborative.

Prior to this role, for eight years she served as director of the Sundance Institute Documentary Film Program and Fund, increasing funding resources, developing year-round labs and fellows programs supporting hundreds of films and filmmakers, and incubating new initiatives focused on deeper understandings of film and social change, including Stories of Change with Skoll Foundation, the Good Pitch models created by DocSociety, and the TED | Sundance partnership. Before Sundance, she was the executive producer of the PBS documentary series POV, where she was honoured with multiple Emmy, Peabody and duPont-Columbia awards, and executive produced several Academy Award-nominated films including Street Fight, Nerakkoon: Betrayal and My Country, My Country. She received a Webby Award as creator and producer of POV's Borders, PBS' first on-line web series. Cara is a member of the WGA and the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences. A graduate of Vassar College, she attended the Whitney Independent Study Program as a Helena Rubenstein Fellow and completed Harvard University's OPM Business Program as a Ford Foundation Fellow.

Past winners of the Doc Mogul Award include SODEC's Monique Simard (2017), Iikka Vehkalahti, formerly of YLE (2016), NHK's Takahiro Hamano (2015), DR TV's Mette Hoffmann Meyer (2014), Women Make Movies' Debra Zimmerman (2013), Participant Media's Diane Weyermann (2012), IDFA's Ally Derks (2011), Films Transit International's Jan Rofekamp (2010), HBO's Sheila Nevins (2009), BBC's Nick Fraser (2008), and Knowledge Network's Rudy Buttignol (2007).

Juries in Vancouver, Edmonton, Montreal, Toronto and Halifax decide on films in competition.

Hot Docs becomes a separately incorporated organization with a mission to showcase and support the work of Canadian and international documentary filmmakers, and to promote excellence in documentary production.
